

BOTTOM VIEW

The JCSI GCB line's cable access restriction feature prevents accidental or deliberate disconnection of cables once the generator is connected and the panel door is closed and locked.

This design minimizes risks of power loss due to vandalism or cable theft or liability from unauthorized, untrained people accessing high voltage power connections—while still providing quick access for authorized users.